

BONN

Beethoven's birthplace, invites you to begin at the source: the Beethoven-Haus, graceful streets, and the rare pleasure of standing where the composer's story first began.

NUREMBERG

A refined German interlude: historic grandeur, storied lanes, and a Beethoven monument that keeps his memory present amid old-world elegance.

PRAGUE

One of Beethoven's early touring triumphs. He gave concerts here and returned repeatedly—drawn by the city's musical spirit. Wander its golden streets and sense why Prague may have claimed a little of his heart.

VIENNA

No Beethoven tour is complete without Vienna—the city he made his home in 1792 and where he lived until 1827. Here, his music and memory are woven into the city itself.

SALZBURG

The city surrounds Beethoven lovers with musical splendour—historic halls, alpine grace, and a world-class concert culture that continues to welcome Beethoven to its stages.

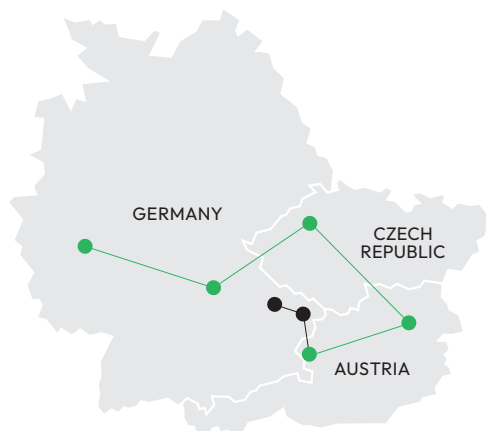

EXTENSIONS

to PASSAU and REGENSBURG possible.

Ludwig van Beethoven (1770 - 1827) is the most frequently performed classical composer in the world and one of the most important representatives of Europe's cultural life. Today his works belong to the cultural heritage of humanity. Not only is he milestone, inventor and turning point in the history of music but he changed the role of the arts as a whole.
